

Hyo-gun Kim, senior scientist and group leader of target fabrication, is making adjustments to a parylene coating chamber in which ablation layers are deposited onto inertial fusion targets.