

Yung-Ho Chuang, Graduate Research Fellow, is shown adjusting the spectral windowing mask that allows the production of spectrally distinct laser pulses used in the measurement of the nonlinear index of refraction of materials.