

Kazuo Tanaka adjusting a collimating lens for the ultraviolet alignment beam in the GDL target area. The pulsed beam and alignment beam are combined at this point on a beam splitter prior to the tripling crystals. The GDL target chamber appears in the background where absorption and laser plasma interaction experiments are being conducted in the ultraviolet.