

Phase conversion of the OMEGA laser system has increased the level of irradiation uniformity on target. William Castle, a member of the Optical Engineering Group, uses high-resolution interferometry to test distributed phase plates.